[illegible] and prisoners, which [illegible] as swarming with [illegible]

This great achievement [illegible] Thomas, is not half [illegible] judging from appearances [illegible] the second army [illegible] result attained [illegible] should be considered [illegible] of the most desirable [illegible] could expect, and is only undervalued because the public mind is so intent on Sherman's operations [illegible] fate of Richmond [illegible] would be received very much as a matter of course.

The fact that peace propositions [illegible] down by forty-four ayes to twenty [illegible] Senate is most significant. It tells us that [illegible] one third of the Senate of the Confederate States are not willing to dismiss such a [illegible] consideration, and such facts as these [illegible] show the operations of the conservative sentiment [illegible] South, and is laying the foundation of a [illegible] feeling that must, in time manifest itself.

The great fleet at Wilmington shows that two Naval Expeditions have gone South, and that the Government means to prosecute its operations with a vigor commensurate with the character of the crisis.

Savannah is said to be only provisioned for ten days, and the probability is that Sherman will bide his time, and wait for a surrender that will come of necessity when the supplies are exhausted, rather than needlessly waste the lives of his men in assaulting the place.

The Richmond papers announce the [illegible] in Tennessee, as being melancholy in the extreme. They do not conceal or excuse the [illegible] ruin of Hood. Bragg thinks himself able to [illegible] Wilmington, while he announces the arrival of thirty steamers and [illegible] commence the attack upon that place [illegible]

There are many other interesting items [illegible] in our dispatches to-day.

Gasconade.

The Chinese Empire was supposed to have a monopoly of a certain sort of military literature which civilized nations have looked upon as the very acme of the sublime and the ridiculous. The flourish of trumpets and rattle of the drums, was not more essential to their ideas of battle than the issues of proclamations and high-sounding manifestos, was part of their system of war.

Whatever renown they may have attained in the Flowery Kingdom by such proceedings in the past, has of late been eclipsed by rebel dispatches and bullying concerning Sherman and his march. To believe the chivalry during the past month, Sherman was marching to sure destruction; his army was surrounded by swarms of foes, beset with dangers, and its fate but a question that time would resolve by its destruction; and when it should reach the coast, if such an event was a possibility—it would only be in shattered fragments, to meet a final annihilation; Wheeler had overwhelmed Kilpatrick; the Georgia militia had driven Foster back to the coast, and rebeldom was jubilant on paper, glorious in dispatches and victorious by telegraph. In the meantime Sherman was [illegible] The Thanksgiving turkey [illegible] counties of Georgia made [illegible] tulations, and when we received the results of the march from his own pen, we [illegible] ry rebel rumor was a [illegible] our army was an [illegible] soldiers feasted [illegible] upon the way. His forces swept [illegible] a tornado, and his [illegible] grasp from which [illegible] boastings that followed [illegible] lamentations at his success [illegible] achievement of that [illegible] that propositions [illegible] rebel legislature [illegible] and in the last [illegible] cast against the motion [illegible] sults, so quickly following [illegible] nessee and Georgia, may soon [illegible] that cannot longer be [illegible]

A Raft in Mid-Ocean

[illegible] Correspondent of the N[illegible]

H. B. M. Steamer [illegible]

Island [illegible] November 12 1864

This vessel [illegible] here two hours since after a passage of 2[illegible] days from the [illegible] On Friday morning of the 11th [illegible] long north [illegible] west, the [illegible] in the forenoon [illegible] a strange [illegible] object on the [illegible] which [illegible] proved to be a raft with a number of people on it [illegible] circumstance [illegible] The captain ordered a boat launched immediately supposing the people to have escaped from a foundered vessel and of course [illegible] up [illegible] the steamer was [illegible] mast was rigged in the [illegible] flag [illegible] Our [illegible] English [illegible] this [illegible]

There were about 2[illegible] men on the raft [illegible] were in very jolly humor. Seeing the boat [illegible] ered one of the party shouted "send us some whisky. We don't want to be picked up." The Captain couldn't stand that. "Where are you going and where are you from?" he shouted. "None of your business; send us some whisky and we'll give you a despatch to take into port." The raft was now close under the lee of the ship and a rope was thrown out to it, which they held on to while a barrel of whisky was [illegible] As soon as they got it safe they let go the rope to which they had tied their despatch. On opening it there appeared a list of passengers which the clerk read aloud. The first name on it was James Guthrie. "By thunder," cried the Captain, "that is the Chicago platform!" A cheer and a yell went up from the raft as the sail was spread again to the wind. The clerk went on reading the names. The list was as follows: James Guthrie, George H. Pendleton, Horatio Seymour, Fernando Wood, C. L. Vallandigham, S. S. Cox and 17 others.

When last seen the raft was making south-east apparently on a bee-line for the coast of Africa.

Respectfully

[illegible]

We find the following partial confirmation of our correspondent's report in the [illegible] this morning under the head, "Important Marine News."

[Leader's Special Dispatch.]

Down [illegible] November 11.—The wreck of the ship [illegible] which foundered during the heavy gale of Tuesday last has broken up.

Capt. McClellan lashed himself to the first plank labelled "Union," and has floated safely into Tammany Hall. It is feared that unfortunate Pendleton is lost.

The crew seems to have deserted the wreck and are making for the nearest port where they will ship on board the staunch old vessel [illegible] The steamer [illegible] picked up many of them. A portion of the wreck is drifting towards Ohio, and when last seen Vallandigham was upon it, waving a copy of the Philadelphia Age as a signal of distress. There is no hope of saving him.

Effect of the American War on British Interests.—The London Daily News of recent date says:

In the fourth year of its progress the American war still weighs disastrously on British interest. At first we lost by it one of our best markets; then we saw the most important branch of national industry deranged and paralyzed; next the measures it was necessary to take for providing ourselves with cotton led to a large and continuous export of the precious metals, and this in turn has brought on severe and prolonged financial pressure and a contraction of the resources needful for sustaining our increasing home and foreign trade. We now witness the operation of the same cause in another sphere, and are reminded that the termination of the war like its beginning, must be attended with violent and even ruinous disturbances of trade.

Liverpool and London at this time bear the chief stress of the calamity. The recent apparition of the phantom of returning peace has been sufficient [illegible] a heavy fall in the value of cotton, and to bring down great houses. It is easy to say that the failures of which we daily hear are due to over speculation, but it is in the nature of great wars to [illegible] speculation and the most legitimate transaction of commerce, based upon a prospect of their continuance must lead to loss when a belief in the return of peace governs the market. The expectation of peace, which never had any solid foundation, has wholly passed away, and the prophets are silent, not even deigning to explain to their followers how they came to surrender themselves to false inspiration. But the impulse given three weeks ago has not spent itself. We see two remarkable sets of phenomena appearing side by side.

A prospect of peace on the basis of separation of the Northern and Southern States of America—and this way the prediction—should enhance the value of the Confederate loan stock in proportion as it depressed that of cotton. But while cotton goes down because it is peace, the stock falls equally because it is war. The prevalent [illegible] about the gold which even the worst wind must bring does not hold here. The wind blows from opposite points at once and brings evil from both.

The Exodus from Dixie to Brazil.—Owing to the war in America several wealthy Southern planters are settling in this country; some have already arrived and others are on their way. One gentleman from [illegible] Virginia is expected to arrive there with a capital of two hundred and fifty thousand [illegible] parties intend to [illegible] in Santa [illegible] year time the lands in that province will be worth as much, if not more, than those of Buenos Ayres.—[illegible]

Whether the Brazilians become alarmed at the class of population drawing in upon them from the Dixie Confederacy, or whether the matter had been predetermined, certain it is they have recently abolished slavery. The way of the transgressor is hard. Slavery is an obsolete thing, and the sooner the Southern people find the fact out and conform to it the better it will be for them.—[illegible]

Impossibility.—Breakfast on board a steamboat without "passengers."

Every force of the [illegible] fled before his approach; and w[illegible] were enormous, his losses were trif[illegible] ison. His forces swept over Fort [illegible] a tornado, and his lines encircle [illegible] grasp from which there is no hope [illegible] boastings that followed his march [illegible] lamentations at his success; and [illegible] achievement of this by our arms, [illegible] that propositions for peace are ent[illegible] rebel legislatures, and in the Confe[illegible] and in the last named body two [illegible] cast against the motion to defeat th[illegible] sults, so quickly following our suc[illegible] nessee and Georgia, may soon grow [illegible] that cannot longer be denied.

Strategy.—Those were palmy [illegible] County of Clark, in the Territory [illegible] when the Oregon Steam Navigat[illegible] working under a charter from the [illegible] that Territory, annually replenish[illegible] Treasury with the amount assess[illegible] as taxes. Some brilliant mind, based on [illegible] ples, has at last viewed the [illegible] much discerning ingenuity, that a [illegible] been made to dispense with Skam[illegible] rough country any how, and the [illegible] ritory is to become part and [illegible] nate county of Clarke, which is thus to have an other chance at taxation of the property stored [illegible] up the river, and pay its debts, and fill its treasury, and can perhaps lay up something for a rainy day, by judicious taxation.

It is claimed by knowing ones that if the thing works well, all of the counties will [illegible] crate system of taxation, in [illegible] with Skamania, have the chance to [illegible] but we don't credit that, and only allude to the proposition as a bit of strategy peculiar to war times.

Where [illegible] flowers together,
A garland [illegible] wove,
In bright and sunny weather,
For the [illegible] love.

Another wreath [illegible]
As well [illegible]
That day when we were mated,
And took the happy vow,
The [illegible] all before us
To make [illegible] our way;
And years have [illegible] o'er us
Since that most blessed day.

The vow which then was spoken,
A thousand [illegible] we've sealed
By many [illegible]
In thicket and in wild,
On Alpine heights we've tarried,
Together still were we;
Yea, love [illegible] hath carried
His [illegible] across the sea.

* * * * *

How pleasant is the clatter,
'Tis like a [illegible] reel,
As yonder falling water
Goes foaming o'er the wheel!
In many a song and ditty
Are millers' wives called fair;
But none are half so pretty
As our dear daughter there.

Ah, yes! I do not wonder
Your eye should rest e'en now,
Upon the hillock yonder,
Where dark the fir-trees grow;
There lie our babes together,
Beneath the darkened sod;
But they have seen Our Father,
And pray for us to God!

Pacific University.

Editor Oregonian:

Dear Sir—Will you allow me space in your paper for a few more statements in regard to the Pacific University. We are already indebted to yourselves and others for commendatory articles regarding it.

The institution was designed especially to furnish the higher education to young men (for they under God are to control the future of our State.) The endowments furnished by friends at the East were designed to further this object by aiding in the support of Teachers. It was, however, expected (was the expectation unreasonable?) that with such help from abroad, Oregon would co-operate and help to build up an institution designed to meet great wants and to be a special instrumentality in advancing her highest interests.

The friends of the college hope that it may perform the high mission designed. As Dartmouth and Yale have exerted a potent influence on the country from their commanding positions on the Atlantic coast, so we may at least hope that this institution, founded for the same purpose, may in the future exert an influence upon the people as they advance from this "new base" of the nation on the Pacific to their grand work in the future.

It is deeply felt, however, that in order to the realization of such a hope, the people must approve of the purpose, and give it their generous co-operation. Since 1858, when the collegiate department of Tualatin Academy became Pacific University, the public beyond the neighborhood of Forest Grove, have not been asked for pecuniary aid. In the meantime, provision has been made, on a liberal scale, for doing a genuine college work. Three college instructors are provided for; while a fourth is in prospect. A large library, a good collection of shells and minerals, and the beginning of a philosophical apparatus have been collected.

At length, however, the time has arrived in the onward progress of the work, when an appeal must be made to the public for aid. The college must retrograde if certain indispensable improvements are not made.

Young men are discouraged from coming—in fact, turn away—for want of those facilities that colleges always furnish their students.

If the work of education begun at Forest Grove deserves well of the public, it must be aided at once and aided liberally. H. W. Corbett, Esq., has set the ball in motion by a generous subscription of $500 which others have so furthered, that more than $4,500 are now pledged. This, while far short of what is needed, is enough to encourage us in the effort. We may reasonably hope with a continuance of exertion and of public good-will to secure enough to meet the present wants of the Institution.

A list of the subscriptions is at the office of Mr. Corbett, where other subscriptions may be made, or those already made may be paid.

Yours, &c.,
S. H. MARSH.

How the Rebels Make Goblets.—A correspondent of the Mobile Register describes a new mode of manufacturing glass goblets. He says: "I saw mine host, Dr. T[illegible], doing something last evening that was new to me. Crockery and glassware of the ordinary kind being well nigh obsolete in the Confederacy, and especially at Tangipahoa, the Doctor was simply manufacturing his own glassware. As his process is cheap, easy, simple and worthy of imitation, I will describe it. Take a claret bottle, or any kind of a bottle—bottles of thin white glass with flat bottoms are the best—hold the bottle firmly by both ends; let another person, having a cup of water ready, pass a stout cotton cord twice round the bottle, and create a friction by pulling the ends of the cord to and fro rapidly for a minute or so; then let him jerk the cord off, dash the water on quickly, and presto! you hold in one hand a serviceable tumbler or goblet as you need wish, and in the other a neat but not gaudy glass candlestick. The bottle should be held with a strap, piece of leather or other substance with a hard, straight edge, firmly around it at the intended point of severance, in order to keep the cord in one place during the friction, and to secure straight and smooth edges to the glassware. Old bottles can be put to good use in this way."

Napoleon's Health Worse.—For the present the Court is so dull that a superstitious person might, like the Empress, imagine she saw disasters of all kinds looming in the distance, and, indeed, if the course of events do not speedily assume a more auspicious aspect, any fear of the kind would have facts to support it. If the health of the Empress is feeble, the Emperor's is steadily declining; and his majesty's inability to appear on horseback may be among the most serious causes for the uncertainty regarding the annual visit to Compeigne, and is, I doubt not, one of the chief reasons for the financial panic which for three days past has reigned on the Bourse. Were anything now to happen to the Emperor, there would be in Paris a universal crash.—Correspondence of Bulletin.

In Murray's "Hand-book for Paris," it is stated that the number of horses in harness passing in one day through the Boulevard des Italiens was counted, and found to be 10,700. The number of vehicles crossing London Bridge between 8 A. M. and 8 P. M. was 18,000, which would give probably 28,000 horses in harness.

Washington County Schools.

Editor Oregonian:

I propose to ask you to permit me to make through your paper, some statements with regard to the educational interests of Washington county. My report will not be so [illegible] to the [illegible] of the county [illegible] education [illegible] In the county are 20 school districts [illegible] this year, and of these all but one reported school the last year from three to nine months. [illegible] doing nothing this year. [illegible] half [illegible] have had schools this year.

In my [illegible] I find much to approve and some things to regret, on the whole, the interest in the cause of education is quite encouraging. Some of the school-houses are comfortable [illegible] to the neighborhoods in which they are located, while others [illegible] the name of houses [illegible] appearing as if designed for [illegible] every way.

Many of them are left without [illegible] a capital place for [illegible] at night, and to [illegible] from the heat of the sun at noon day. In one school which I visited [illegible] the teacher with 23 [illegible] children [illegible] upper department [illegible] in the lower, or under the house, and I could not but think the children were the [illegible] or at least [illegible] ease for the use [illegible]. The teacher informed me that till recently they had been so numerous as to be quite annoying, but by [illegible] the matter had been [illegible] improved.

Some of the best of the houses are built where there is no shelter [illegible] the playground from the heats of summer and no place where water can be had short of half a mile. These defects may be partly excused on the plea of poverty, but that is about as much as they can afford to do to sustain a school at all; and indeed in some cases the plea is undoubtedly true. But there is [illegible] place where united effort could not secure at least a comfortable house. The main difficulty [illegible] is in the want of united effort; and [illegible] from [illegible] agreeing with the man who said the people of [illegible] county were the most [illegible] people in the world, there are not wanting instances which prove that some of them possess a large share of human nature.

Among the districts which I would mention as deserving of particular praise for their persevering efforts in the cause of education, and the religious training of the young, the first position is undoubtedly due to Forest Grove, the location of Pacific University and Tualatin Academy, which are well known to the public far and near. Under the efficient management of the present instructors they are constantly gaining favor, and their prospects were never so bright as now. They have over 50 students in the collegiate and academic departments, and about the same number in the primary—a library of about 4,000 volumes for the use of the students; a permanent fund for the support of the professors; and what is better than all, a good tone of moral sentiment in the community—the best security parents can have that their children will be kept from contamination and evil influences. An effort is being made to put up during the coming summer a large and commodious Academy building, and another connected with the College, for the purpose of furnishing the students with rooms, and I believe with good prospect of success. It will have a salutary effect upon the educational interests of the whole county, and I hope of the State. There are three church buildings in the place—a Congregational, a Methodist and a Baptist. Public worship on the Sabbath always in the Congregational, and generally in one or both the others. A Sabbath School is maintained all the year.

Next in order comes the [illegible] at [illegible] Here is a church and parsonage built by the Methodists of East Tualatin Circuit; and a library of some 300 volumes, a gift from Mr. John Jones, and accessible to all free of charge. Here religious services are regularly sustained, and a Sunday School kept up most if not all the year. They have this year built a neat and comfortable school house about half a mile north of the church, and their school gives evidence of having been kept by a succession of good teachers.

The district in the Lenox neighborhood was the first I believe to build a good house, and has maintained the ascendant among merely school districts until recently. They have had about six months excellent school by Mr. Weyant. The Baptist church and school-house here give evidence of their former thrift and enterprise. Gaston's and [illegible] house and the one in Robinson's neighborhood, are both large and comfortable buildings, designed also for public worship, and are creditable to their respective communities. In both they have had three months school, and they are still in progress. The one at Scroggins is the best school-house in the county, but not large enough for public worship. They are having six months school, by Mr. Long.

The one at Hillsboro was once a comfortable house, but is now old and quite too small for the present wants of the place. This difficulty is in part obviated by Mrs. Adams taking the younger children in a room in our own house.

I will only say that if we have not a good school here, it is the fault of the teachers. We have an interesting Sunday school under the superintendence of Mr. Hare, with a library of some [illegible] volumes of children's books, and a copy of a child's paper distributed to each scholar every week. There is a Christian Church and Methodist parsonage commenced, but both unfinished.

These are all the school-houses which I deem worthy of mention. In [illegible] neighborhood they have had nine months' school; in [illegible] the third term is in progress.

I mention the Religious advantages of the county as being intimately connected with the Educational, and where either is neglected the other can hardly prosper. In particular, I would recommend Sabbath Schools as the most efficient auxiliaries of the Common Schools, especially in places where schools are maintained but a part of the year. It is a common remark and a true one that children who attend but three months in the year, generally forget a great part of what they learn at one school before the beginning of another. This could be prevented by a well sustained Sabbath School with a good library, which can be procured at a small expense; and by furnishing each child with a new and interesting book every week to keep up the interest so that the child will really be gaining all the time, and be in much better condition to make progress at the commencement of the next term of school. This is in addition to the moral and religious training, which is of itself invaluable. The difference between children that have enjoyed the advantages of a Sabbath School and those who have not, is so apparent, that I cannot but urge it upon all the friends of Education to do all in their power to sustain them in every neighborhood. Another means which is cheap and easy of access, is papers designed for children. Coming as they do regularly and filled with matter calculated to interest them, the children look for and read them with eagerness, and thus their interest is kept up and they do not forget how to read. Among these, I recommend the Youth's Companion, published weekly in New York, at $[illegible] per year; the Child's Paper, monthly, at $2 for 20; the S. S. Advocate, twice a month at 25c per year. I will cheerfully act as agent for these papers. The expense of a paper are trifling while the advantages are very great. But I have perhaps already exceeded my limits and will close my report.

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN
DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL!

LEFFEL'S AMERICAN TURBINE HAS [illegible] advantages over all other Wheels, both Turbine and Overshot.

It has competed successfully with every variety of Wheel and has always proved itself victorious.

This Wheel has been in use nearly Three Years in the [illegible] and HAS NEVER MADE A FAILURE.

It is CHEAPER than an Overshot, MORE DURABLE, and will YIELD A HIGHER PER CENT. OF POWER from the same quantity of water. We have introduced [illegible] on this coast. They are not all in operation yet, but will be in a few days. The following testimonial is from an old and experienced Millwright, well known in this State:

WESTPORT, CLATSOP CO., OREGON,
Nov. 19th, 1864.

Messrs. Leffel & Myers—Dear Sirs: We have plenty of water now, and your DOUBLE TURBINE is in successful operation. We are satisfied that your Wheel is fully equal, if not superior to the Overshot. With the same water that the Overshot uses, we can do more work with the Turbine than with the Overshot. I have tried many Wheels which were claimed to be superior to an Overshot but yours is the first I have found. Hence we do not hesitate to recommend the American Double Turbine as the most efficient economizer of water in our knowledge.

JOHN WEST & CO.

We desire all who want Wheels to visit the following named places and have ocular demonstration of the above facts:

John West & Co. West Port, Clatsop County, Oregon;

A CHRISTMAS TABLE.—The ladies of [illegible] have been accumulating many specimens of good taste and elegant handiwork, that have lately come to the adorning of a Christmas Tree, which with its rich, tasteful, and elegant adornments constitutes a feature of the festival season [illegible]. [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] careful carving [illegible] until they [illegible] of summer flowers.

CHRISTMAS.—The [illegible] of this delightful anniversary [illegible] Sabbath [illegible] [illegible] religious [illegible] those of [illegible] that rouse [illegible] naturally [illegible] as we are, with warring elements of discord, rebellion and civil war coursing through our land, and working death and desolation [illegible] to forget all this and yield to [illegible] festivity, or to improve and inculcate [illegible] nation [illegible] to ever remember that this war is the work against [illegible] the occasion, our most joyous hearts would bear these things in mind, that even merry-making should be tempered with thisteen [illegible].

NAVIGATION.—As the steamer Wilson G. Hunt did not return to her wharf in the city on Saturday, it may be supposed that her stay at the Cascades will be determined by the state of the weather, or of the amount of stores on board, for the use of the officers and crew. A steam [illegible] recently [illegible] the steamer Julia, while waiting at the mouth of the Willamette [illegible] the Sierra Nevada, which sent her back to Portland, and it is possible the Hunt may be caught under like circumstances. The Julia lay at anchor some days [illegible] was beating about [illegible] to cross the Columbia River Bar. The vegetables and fresh meats on board of the Julia, as well as the [illegible] and other [illegible] had to be [illegible] scarce. Finally, one evening, Capt. [illegible] applied to the Cask, which was found emptied of its contents, and turning to the Fireman said: "Fire up! such insubordination is unsupportable! there is nothing left to drink! we must go to Portland!" and within a few hours the Julia reached her wharf. The storms raised the Willamette so that, before the Sierra Nevada appeared, no lighterage was necessary.

UNCHRISTIAN CRITICISM.—We supposed that the efforts of the ladies in connection with the Fair for the Christian Commission, lately held, would be appreciated, and not subjected to unkind criticisms. They attempted to interest visitors in various ways, and succeeded admirably as the Christian Advocate confesses, while it goes on to question the good taste of those whose names, character and intention should have placed them far above its criticism. We are willing to accept this as the individual growl of the editor—almost a stranger among us—but not as an expression of the sentiment that supports the Advocate. We regret the remark as calculated to provoke a different state of things from the Christian harmony that a religious press should cultivate. In matters of "good taste," in future, we shall not consult the Reverend Editor.

CHRISTMAS AND THE LITTLE FOLKS.—Last Saturday evening the Sabbath Schools throughout the city, were generally called together, and efforts made to entertain the little folks. Several had Christmas trees, including the Methodist and Episcopal at least, while the children of the Presbyterian and Baptist Societies assembled together at the church of the former, sang many really beautiful pieces, adapted to their ages and voices, and listened to an interesting address delivered by the Rev. Mr. Miagins, who has a most happy faculty of pleasing such an audience. Adjourning to the basement of the church they were feasted on many good things provided. The occasion was one very appropriate to the season, most creditable to the efforts of Superintendents and teachers, and that will long be remembered by those interested most, as well as by their elders.

HOW AMONG "CARDERS."—When a flourishing night intervenes at the gambler's table, in "other card rooms" or "tan dies" the "rappers" are enabled to "sport" Havana cigars and clean dickies. On Friday night a "bank" [illegible] several hundred dollars in this city, but the division of spoils were not amicable to all whom it concerned, and six-shooters were brought into requisition for a satisfactory adjustment of affairs on the street, on Saturday. The Police interfered, and an examination was elicited at the Recorder's Court on that evening. It was a case of "[illegible] eat dog," and was continued until this morning.

CRANDALL & TOWLE.—We have inadvertently neglected to notice the [illegible] attractions for the holidays, displayed by the firm named above for the [illegible] of their extensive stock of glassware, lamps, etc. They have a fine assortment, and a judicious investment at their counters can not possibly be amiss during the holiday season.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—The "Bee" [illegible] includes all kinds [illegible] we are [illegible] to acknowledge favors from Mr. A. E. Richardson, Powell & [illegible], and others, which will serve to pass off the holidays very well [illegible] supplied us with a good quality [illegible] quantum suff. it for the [illegible] and we don't want any more. Satisfied!

The Lungs are the Great Laboratory of the Human System.—When once destroyed they never can be made sound again. We should remove the cause which tends to their destruction. When very alarming, it is indicated by a cough or pains in the chest, or difficulty of breathing. Now, Allen's Lung Balsam will check these symptoms at once, if it is used in time, and prevent fatal Consumption.
For sale by SMITH & DAVIS, Agents, Portland, Oregon.
And also by Dealers in Family Medicines generally.

A Word to the Aged.—In the decline of life the vital forces are consequent upon physical decay, can only be supplied by some vivifying preparation which restores the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effect. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits. For dyspepsia, oppression after eating, headache, liver complaint, spasms of the stomach, sick or nervous headache, chills and fever, tremors, prostration and all the complaints special to the feebler sex, the Bitters are earnestly recommended by thousands who have witnessed their superior efficacy in such cases. Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. nov12d&w

Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock AND IODINE ALTERATIVE is the only remedy for invigorating a debilitated and broken down constitution. Persons of scrofulous habit, suffering from impure blood, nervous trembling, impaired digestion, liver disease, lost vitality, should give this great blood purifier a trial. All chronic diseases, constitutional complaints and organic affections are radically cured by a steady use of this medicine. oct19-3m

Hope for the Afflicted.—In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the celebrated Institute established by Dr. J. C. YOUNG in 1854. In this age of deceit and charlatanism it is a boon to the suffering to point out to them where they are sure of obtaining the wished for relief and cure. Under the care of the skillful Doctor the sick and troubled can divest themselves of their burdens of pains and shame, lay aside their cares and secure health and happiness. If you are sick or in trouble, do not hesitate. Read the advertisement and follow the advice. Do not forget the number nor the manner of directing your letter. CONSULTATION No. [illegible] Washington street, San Francisco.

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of Checking a Cough or "Slight Cold" in its first stage, that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. Military Officers and Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.

LAWS OF OREGON.

Acts passed at the Third Regular Session of the Legislative Assembly of Oregon.

AN ACT to define and punish the crime of Treason.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, as follows:

Section 1. The following acts constitute the crime of treason against this State: 1. levying war against this State, or adhering to the enemies thereof; or 2. [illegible] by force to usurp the government of this State, or to overturn the same, or [illegible] attempt made within this State to [illegible] purpose; 3. Adhering to the enemies of this State while separately engaged in a war with a foreign enemy, in the cases prescribed in the constitution of the United States, and giving such enemies aid and comfort in this State or elsewhere.

Sec. 2. To constitute levying war against this State, an actual act of war must be committed. To conspire merely to levy war is not enough.

Sec. 3. Where persons rise in insurrection with intent to prevent in general by force and intimidation, the execution of a statute of this State, or to force its repeal, they are guilty of levying war.— But an endeavor, although by numbers and force of arms, to resist the execution of a law in a single instance and for a private purpose is not levying war.

Sec. 4. Every person convicted of the crime of treason, shall suffer death for the same.

Approved, October 21st, 1864.

AN ACT to amend an act entitled "An act relating to the assessment and collection of taxes," passed January 27th, 1854.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, as follows:

Section 12, of title 11, of such act, is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in place thereof: Sec. 12. The person and property of every private corporation is liable to assessment and taxation, unless otherwise specially provided, and shall be assessed in the name of such corporation, in the county where the principal office or place of business of such corporation is located, but if such corporation is engaged in the business of navigation or railroading, then the steamboats or other water craft of such corporation shall be assessed in the county in this State where the home port or berth of such steamboat or other water craft may be, and the rolling stock of such railroad shall be assessed in the county in this State wherein the principal terminus or depot of such railroad may be. Provided, that if either terminus or any depot of such road, be in the county where such corporation has its principal office or place of business, then such rolling stock shall be assessed in such county. The personal property of a private corporation may be seized and sold for any tax levied upon the property of such corporation as in the case of a natural person.

Approved, October 21st, 1864.

AN ACT entitled an act supplementary to "An act to organize the Militia," approved Oct. 16th, 1862.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

Section 1. That it shall be the duty of the Adjutant General of the State, immediately upon receiving the assessment list from all the counties in the State, to furnish the Secretary of State with an abstract of all persons liable to do military duty in each county of the State, and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to charge each county with its quota of the military tax imposed by Sec. 3, of the military law, and the counties so charged shall be held liable for the collection of their quota of said tax, under the same penalties and liabilities that they are for the collection of the State civil taxes.

Sec. 2. The Commander-in-chief may at his discretion institute a military camp of instruction in some central part of the State, to continue for not less than ten days nor more than thirty days, once in each year; when it shall be the duty of all commissioned and non-commissioned officers in the militia of the State to attend such camp of instruction, at which time such camp of instruction shall be under the command of the ranking officer present, and the Governor shall employ one or more competent teachers in infantry, cavalry and artillery, whose duty it shall be to give instruction in military tactics and science, in accordance to Section 60, of the militia law.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the Adjutant General of the State, under the approval of the Governor, to purchase all necessary camp equipage for the use of said camp of instruction, the same to become the property of the State; and he shall also furnish all necessary rations for the officers and forage for their horses, while in attendance at this camp of instruction; all of which shall be audited and paid by the Board of Military Auditors out of the military fund.

Sec. 4. And if any commissioned officer shall refuse or neglect to attend such military camp of instruction, unless they shall have received a certificate from a board of scientific military men (who shall be appointed by the Governor for that purpose) that they are qualified to command, in accordance to their rank, shall be deemed to have forfeited his commission, and it shall be the duty of the Adjutant General of the State to notify the regiment, battalion, or company, to which such officer belongs to that effect; whereupon the officer highest in rank (other than the one having forfeited his commission) shall immediately call an election to fill such vacancy, and shall report the result of the election to the Commander-in-chief, through the Adjutant General, whereupon commissions shall be issued accordingly: Provided, however, if any such officer shall bring a certificate from the Brigadier General commanding his brigade, that he was unable to attend such camp of instruction on account of sickness, or some other unavoidable circumstances, when no action shall be had until after another meeting of the camp of instruction.

Sec. 5. The Commander-in-chief may furnish rations for the officers and men, and forage for their horses, for all public parades and reviews called under the provisions of Section 45, of the military law; and if any commissioned officer, or non-commissioned officer, musician or private, shall neglect or refuse or fail to attend any public parade or review, when legally called by the Commander-in-chief, or any officer having authority to make such call, shall be deemed to be guilty of disobeying officers, and subject to a court martial and a fine of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, for each and every offence.

LE DOYEN'S

SARSAPARILLA, YELLOW DOCK

—AND—

IODINE ALTERATIVE

FOR THE

CONSTITUTION.

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

WITH corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood you must be sick all over. It may burst out in pimples or sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. Sarsaparilla purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and repelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurities of the blood, such as Scrofula or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints and Heart Diseases.

Blood and Liver.

This valuable Medicine is now available to the public for the cure of its operations are evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increasing the appetite. In cases of Dyspepsia, Emaciation and Debility, an increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

SCROFULA, CONSUMPTION, RHEUMATISM, CANCER, HEART, LIVER AND KIDNEY DISEASES, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, BRONCHITIS, DYSPEPSIA, &c.

AS A TONIC,

Are you sick, feeble and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping over you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Le Doyen's Sarsaparilla, and cleanse out the disordered system—purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again.

AS A LITHONTRIPTIC,

it has no equal; being chemically combined with Iodine, it possesses in a high degree the power of dissolving [illegible] in the Bladder, and matters of the kidneys, preventing gravel formation and enlargement of the prostrate glands, irritation of the neck of the bladder, dropsy, etc.
